By WASH FAYETTE
With everybody who owns a motor car talking about tires and the rubber supply, the Washington C. H. Rotary Club has hit upon what promises to be one of its most interesting meetings of the year for next Tuesday noon at the Country Club.
Two representatives of the B. F. Goodrich Co. are to be visitors of the club, Don Farnham, sales supervisor and P. V. Bender, who is identified with the operating department of the company in the Cleveland district.
These two men will show a short motion picture, "Rubber For Defense", and then give a talk on the present rubber situation and the future possibilities of rubber, both natural crude and synthetic. In connection with this talk will be a demonstration of the manufacture of the synthetic rubber "Ameripol" which is now being extensively advertised. Farnham and Bender will then answer questions which their hearers may desire to ask with relation to their experience and knowledge of the possibilities of rubber.
I don't know that any of the Rotarians will attempt to start making their own tire rubber after this demonstration but I'll bet that some of them whose tires may be getting a little thin will listen hard for hopeful words from these rubber men.
You folks who know Carl S. Mallow, Jr. — Warrant Officer Carl S. Mallow, if you please—will recall that Carl gave up his study of law at Ohio State University and enlisted in the U. S. Army because he realized the nation had a job ahead that had to be done, and he wished to get in on the ground floor.
Carl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Mallow, of South Fayette Street, won high honors at Ohio University at Athens after graduating with honors at the Washington C. H. High School as president of the class.
This week Jean, Carl's sister, received a lengthy letter from Carl, and while he does not indicate where he is located, there is every reason to believe he is now in Australia, with a number of other Fayette County boys in uniform.
Carl's letter came through without censorship, and he speaks of the things of intense interest about him. One thing he declares the newspapers where he is do not compare with his home town Record-Herald, and he asks that copies be sent to him.
One of his chief pastimes is playing chess—a decidedly English game. After playing chess with "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" (residents of the town where he is quartered) until about 10:30 P. M., supper is served. This supper consists of tea, cookies, cake or toast.
One of the last picture shows he saw in the town was "Saint Martin's Lane" featuring Charles Laughton.
In closing his letter Carl writes:
"I am sure you know by now that mail is just about the most precious thing we are able to get." That sentence is a clear call to everyone to write to their relatives and friends in the service, wherever they are.

AFL And CIO Feud May Be Ended with Merger

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(P)—Formal negotiations intended to bring about an AFL-CIO merger into "one national labor movement" will be arranged for at a meeting in Washington next week.
President William Green of the American Federation of Labor announced plans for the meeting yesterday at the close of the 10-day session of the AFL's executive council.
He said that Harry C. Bates of the AFL-Bricklayers' Union and President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations would meet in Washington "next Tuesday or Wednesday" to fix the time and place for the negotiations.

With drastic action.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 14.—(P)—High-ranking navy and army officers entered the strike-bound plant of the General Cable Corporation today under Presidential order to take over its operation.
The army officers arrived first, in two cars, with Brig. Gen. R. K. Robertson identified as one of them. Fifteen minutes later Rear Adm. Harold G. Bowen led a navy party into the plant.
After they had entered the plant, General Robertson's chauffeur stood guard at the gate with a sub-machine gun. No pickets were in sight.
BAYONNE, N. J. — A short time after the navy took over, 800 strikers voted unanimously to end the unauthorized strike and return to work at 4 P. M.
Michael Petrakian, strike chairman, said the workers would return under the same conditions that prevailed before the strike was called Monday night.
President Roosevelt yesterday gave the order to take over after the strikers, estimated at 1,000 by their leader, voted to continue the walkout they started Monday night.
Admiral Bowen, former chief of the Navy's Bureau of Engineering, took charge of the federal shipbuilding and dry dock.

Ship Sinkings

(By The Associated Press)
Cruisers and warplanes were reported on the hunt today for an Axis surface raider preying on Allied shipping in the South Atlantic. Other developments in the battle of the Atlantic included the sinking by enemy submarines of two small Cuban merchantmen in the Gulf of Mexico.
Brazilian sources in Rio De Janeiro indicated that heavy warships and planes had joined in a search since radioed reports last Monday that at least two United Nations vessels had been attacked by a surface raider 1,000 miles east of Rio.
Pending further information, the reported South Atlantic victims were not included in the Associated Press tabulation of announced Allied or neutral ship losses which, counting the two Cuban craft, put at 422 the number of such western Atlantic merchant sinkings since Pearl Harbor.
Likewise withheld from tabulation pending further details was the sinking of a Brazilian tanker by a German submarine in the Caribbean 450 miles from the nearest land. This attack was disclosed yesterday with the arrival of 18 survivors at Caribbean port.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 14.—(P)—The "milk rebellion" at the Wright Aeronautical Corporation is ended.
A company spokesman disclosed that 100 workers staged a 15-minute demonstration yesterday when a milk cart failed to appear as usual at mid-morning to refill dispensers at Plant No. 2.
"No milk, no work," the spokesman quoted the demonstrators as shouting as they halted work. A large number of other workers continued at their jobs of building airplane engines.
The "rebellion" ended with the appearance of the milk cart. It was on time today.
UTILITIES NETWORK
BEING BROKEN UP
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(P)—The Associated Gas and Electric Corporation must drop 116 subsidiary companies from its network, under a Securities and Exchange Commission ruling.
The break-up order is the first of its kind against the utilities empire built by Howard C. Hopson. Hopson is now serving a five-year term in federal prison for mail fraud in connection with corporate stock deals.
The Associated system collapsed four years ago and is undergoing reorganization in federal courts under the Bankruptcy Act.
The subsidiaries named in yesterday's divestment order are scattered over 24 states and the Philippine Islands.

Reports Say Soviet Army Is Exacting Heavy Toll of Attacking Germans

(By The Associated Press)
Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies were reported to have crushed the first great Nazi onslaught toward Stalingrad today, counter-attacking to drive back the Germans after they had broken through and reached the Don below Kletskaya, 75 miles northwest of the Big Volga steel city.
Soviet dispatches said the Germans opened a short-lived breach by sending huge numbers of tanks into a narrow sector.
The German-controlled Paris radio asserted that part of Stalingrad was in flames under intensive Nazi aerial attack.
Different in Caucasus
In the Caucasus, the Russians acknowledged that German flying columns driving down the Rostov-Baku Railway toward the Caspian Sea had advanced within 140 miles of the Grozny oil fields after a 50-mile thrust in 24 hours.
The invaders were now leaving the flat plains on the northern side of the towering Caucasus range, a terrain ideally suited for tanks, and had come within sight of snow-capped Mt. Elbrus rising 18,465 feet above the steppes.
A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, emphasizing the new phase of the fighting declared:
"The enemy, exploiting mountainous terrain which is particularly favorable for defense, is still putting up resistance in order to cover his retreat on the sea route from the North Caucasus ports."
Reds on Offense
German headquarters also acknowledged that the Russians were attacking heavily at Voronezh, in two key sectors on the central (Moscow) front and two sectors on the Northern (Leningrad) front.
Besides Voronezh, the Red army's counter blows struck at Vyazma, about midway on the old Napoleonic highway from Moscow to Smolensk, and at the German stronghold of Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow.
In addition, the Germans cited fierce Soviet attacks below Leningrad in the Volkhov and Lake Ilmen sectors, where the Russians declared they had killed 3,000 Nazis in two days of fighting and captured a point held by the invaders.

'WAR OF AGGRESSION'

That's What Veteran of First World War Suggests

RAVENNA, Aug. 14.—(P)—Lieut. Col. Clarence M. Butler, retired goateed World War veteran, has gone to Washington in an effort to induce President Roosevelt to name the present conflict "The War of Aggression."
"As the acts of the Axis are commonly and properly referred to as aggression, why not throw it back into the teeth of Adolf Hitler, the prime aggressor, by calling it the War of Aggression?" asks the former ordnance disbursing division officer, who served the Federal Pension Bureau from 1893 to 1917.
Butler also has devised a monogram-slogan "Victory Over Aggression," the monogram combining the popular V with an A, and hopes personally to call both to the attention of Mr. Roosevelt, who tentatively suggested this be called "The War of Survival."

Sabotage Along Invasion Coast
Continues Despite Nazi Threats

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(P)—Official Czech circles reported today the execution of 10 of their countrymen on various charges at Prague and Bruenn in two days this week.
Quoting official German statements, the Czechs said four were executed at Prague on accusations of preparing high treason and four for arson and "blackout crimes" while two were executed at Bruenn on charges of operating a secret wireless transmitter.
American sources also reported the execution of a former chief clerk in the United States Consulate at Salonika, Greece. A naturalized Greek, he was said to have been among 20 hostages shot.
Nazi broadcasts repeats threats of death as reprisal against Dutch hostages unless railway saboteurs in the occupied Netherlands surrendered by midnight tonight and fear was expressed by Netherlands government sources here that a "terrible slaughter" was impending.
The Germans were said to hold 1,600 hostages.
Even as the deadline drew near there were new reports of continued sabotage. The Germans announced that four persons were arrested in an attempt to blow up a Nazi-controlled radio station.
A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, Nazi commander in the Netherlands, declared that explosives found on those arrested were of "foreign origin." He was quoted as threatening reprisal against Dutch hostages throughout the district.
None of the Nazi broadcasts heard here specified the number.

Dodge collapsed while awaiting questioning, and was rushed from the precinct station to Receiving Hospital. He died last night, more than 40 hours after his arrest, without regaining consciousness.

of a hemorrhage induced by excitement over a domestic quarrel or from injuries suffered in a scuffle at a precinct station.
Whitman said it was still undetermined whether a skull fracture, a cerebral hemorrhage or a stroke caused Dodge's death following the last episode in a turbulent career that often brought his name into headlines.
"Our investigation entirely depends upon the findings of the post mortem," the inspector said. "We had hoped to question Dodge as to the scuffle that took place between himself and his wife."
Prosecutor William E. Dowling said Mrs. Dodge told him she suffered a split lip when Dodge struck her during a quarrel, in the home of a friend, Howard E. Lange, while Lange was absent. Police found Dodge alone in the home, while they were investigating a report of a prowler at

'Sales Engineers' Fees Are
Clipped by Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(P)—Rising opposition to a House-passed measure outlawing broker's fees on all government officials today increased the likelihood that it would undergo sharp modification in the Senate.
The measure grew out of hearings before the House naval committee, during which four firms of Washington "sales engineers" acknowledged obtaining fees amounting to approximately $2,000,000 during the past year by obtaining war contracts for their clients.
It was learned authoritatively that Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the Senate naval committee had written manufacturers who protested the bill that it was not the intent of Congress "to disturb the legitimate and long standing relations concerning sales made to the government."
The bundles for soldiers and kinfolk will move mainly in boxcars, ODT said, and it appears there will be "a comfortable supply" of such cars even though

British Convoy arrives at Malta After Fiery Battle
Through Mediterranean

By MURLIN SPENCER
GENERAL MAC ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 14.—(P)—The battle of the Solomon Islands exploded over a broadcasting area of the South Seas today with Allied bombers blasting at Japanese warships and transports apparently trying to reinforce garrisons hurled out of three coastal areas by United States Marines.
Allied flying fortresses and medium bombers caught the enemy vessels in New Guinea waters, west of the Solomons, yesterday and drove home three separate attacks, a headquarters communique reported.
News of the land fighting still was meager as the battle entered its second week, and Washington's Navy communique said only that operations were continuing.
Major Offensive
There was every indication nevertheless that this first Allied offensive of the war had now grown into a clash of major proportions and one which might alter the whole course of the Pacific struggle.
The headquarters communique said that during the first of yesterday's attacks on the Japanese ships off New Guinea, six Japanese Zero fighters challenged a flight of flying fortresses and that two enemy craft were shot down and three damaged.
Seven Zeros engaged medium bombers in the second attack and one of the enemy fighters was destroyed. The third Allied attack was carried out without interference.
All the Allied planes returned to their bases, but some sustained damage.
The Japanese vessels attacked in New Guinea waters presumably were heading towards the Solomons from Salamaua, their chief base in New Guinea, or from Rabaul or Gasmata, in New Britain.
By ROGER D. GREENE
For comfort at home, imperial Tokyo headquarters issued a fantastic claim of Allied naval losses in the eight-day-old battle of the Solomon Islands today but significantly omitted mention of land gains by fighting United States Marines.
Recalling Tokyo's dream-book accounts of the Coral Sea and Midway battle, both spectacular United Nations victories, the Japanese communique reported the sinking of 13 British and American cruisers, nine destroyers, three submarines and 10 transports in the Solomons.
For Home Consumption
In addition, the communique said, a cruiser, three destroyers and a transport were damaged in attacks by Japanese warships and suicide-diving Jap airmen.
On the debit side, the Japs acknowledged only that two of their cruisers were "slightly damaged" and 21 planes lost.
In contrast with the enemy's claim of 35 Allied warships sunk and five damaged, official United Nations figures so far show only one cruiser sunk and two cruisers, two destroyers and a transport damaged in the attack on the Solomons.
On both sides of the world, Axis propaganda appeared to be reaching all-time heights of extravagance.
Convoy Suffers Loss
One of the greatest sea and air battles of the Mediterranean had cost Britain the cruiser Manchester and the aircraft carrier Eagle, but resulted in delivery of reinforcements and new planes for Malta and saw Italy's cruisers again turn tail and run, according to the British Admiralty.
Known Axis losses include two submarines sunk and two cruisers hit by torpedoes, said the Admiralty's communique which today gave the first official Allied account of the battle.

War Today

Offensive Action by U. S.
One of Most Important
War Developments

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World News Service)

The outstanding development among the big events which are boiling in all parts of our war-torn globe is Uncle Sam's acquisition finally of the strength to assume the offensive in widely separated theaters.

This eagerly awaited moment arrives as the war is rushing to the crisis of what may easily be the decisive year. Ultimate outcome of the conflict may well depend on what happens in the few remaining weeks before winter throws a barrier in front of the onrushing Hitlerites.

Further indication of Uncle Sam's increasing power comes from the disclosure that United States fighter planes are for the first time operating from British bases on a large scale against the Huns in western Europe.

Meantime American Marines, backed by our own and Allied warships and aircraft, are in the midst of a daring offensive against the Japs in the Solomon Islands, and at latest reports were getting ahead with the job of wresting highly important strategic points from the enemy in the Tulagi Zone. Big U. S. bombers, handled by our own men, are making fierce war against the Axis in the Mediterranean area, and far afield in China, are hammering the Japs. Up among the fog-shrouded Aleutians a task force has been busy against enemy units which managed to get a foothold on isolated islands.

This doesn't mean that Uncle Sam has come into full strength or anything like it. On the contrary he is just beginning to feel the swell of his muscles.

The diversity of America's operations, which literally circle the world, emphasize the fact that this is a global war in the full meaning of the term.

TRUCKS COLLECT 17,390 POUNDS OF SCRAP IRON

Four Trucks Make an Unusual Record in Single Day Of Activity

Fayette County farmers are coming to the front in an unmistakable way in response to government's call for scrap metal, as indicated by the fact that Thursday four trucks, operating under direction of the War Production Board, collected 17,390 pounds of scrap metal from farms in southern Fayette County.

The salvage crews are finding surprisingly large quantities of old farm machinery and equipment, good only for scrap on many farms, and the farmers, most of them thoroughly cognizant of the vital necessity of turning their scrap into guns and shells to defeat the enemy, are co-operating whole heartedly.

Many have collected the metal and have it ready when the salvage trucks appear, and this saves a great deal of time and it is a genuine help in the war effort.

Payment is made to farmers as the metal is weighed and removed from their premises. Other farmers are moving the scrap to the nearest salvation yards, and this further aids in prompt handling of the metal.

Comparatively little rubber is being collected, but it is also badly needed to meet the serious rubber shortage.

The metal is being piled on the southeast corner of the Fairgrounds as it is collected.

Trucks will continue to comb the county, working northward from the southern part of the county.

Meanwhile, reports coming in here on results of the drive in other parts of the state showed that automobile graveyards in 47 northern Ohio counties dumped 19,596 tons of iron and steel scrap into the war production machine during the past 30 days. These figures were compiled by the district automobile salvage section.

Cuyahoga County led the area with 3,162 tons for this period. Summit County yard dealers provided 1,459 tons; Lucas County 1,049 and Mahoning County 1,030.

In the previous 30-day period, the area shipped 21,751 tons of iron and steel to be scrapped. A. M. Robinson, district salvage chief, said, the shrinkage in tonnage was due to intense activity earlier and depleted inventories.

"Old jalopies are not being scrapped by individuals as quickly now as they were previously," he added. "This is unfortunate, because the scrap in these old cars is urgently needed for war production. A car's value as scrap is about $7.50 to $15, but its value to the war effort cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

He urged all owners of jalopies and unusable cars to sell them to automobile graveyard dealers as soon as possible.

wreck. Meanwhile the Norwegian government in London said it had been unable to learn yet what punishment if any had been inflicted on some 900 men, women and children who were arrested in Oslo August 3 for wearing flowers to commemorate the birthday of King Haakon of Norway.

There were new reports of Axis reprisals and threats in Old Yugoslavia.

Roundabout reports to Reuters said the Italians who "blasted the little Yugoslav village of Ravnik out of the ground" because of patriot activity, posted notices threatening death to any residents of neighboring villages who gave shelter to the homeless.

American sources in London received word from Greece that David Tiano, 38, former chief clerk in the United States Consulate in Salonika, had been shot by the Germans as a hostage.

Tiano was among 20 hostages

GIDDING ENTERS REAL ESTATE FIELD

Position Is Taken with the Elmer Junk Agency

Carey (Andy) Gidding today was starting out in a new field of endeavor after 15 years as merchandise salesman and rural representative of the Dayton Power & Light Co. in this district.

Gidding announced Friday that he had just received his license and that he had taken a position as salesman with the Elmer Junk Real Estate Agency. Gidding said he had been given a leave of absence by the D. P. & L. because war priorities had so curbed the work he had been engaged in. He said, too, that he had recovered from a recent illness and that he planned company at Kearny when the navy seized it and operated it for 134 days last year before returning it to private management.

A strike leader yesterday hailed the presidential order and forecast it would signalize an immediate mass return to work. "The workers will be happy to go back to work for the government," said Strike Chairman Michael Petrakian, adding that the strikers would "work like hell to make up for the time lost and get behind the President."

The few pickets were withdrawn yesterday upon receipt of word that President Roosevelt had ordered navy operation of the factory until he decided its private operation could be "in a manner consistent with the war effort."

One thousand strikers walked out on Monday, halting production on cable for the armed forces, over refusal of the war labor board to grant a general 10-cent an hour wage increase over the 78-cent minimum and double pay for vacations.

The strikers had rejected appeals by both the WLB and officials of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the local union to return to work under private management on behalf of nation's forces fighting in the Solomon Islands.

WALNUT NEEDED FOR GUNSTOCKS, REPORTS STATE

Much Walnut Timber Grows In This Region but No Demand Here

While reports coming from the American Walnut Manufacturers Association, of Chicago, state that walnut timber is now very much in demand for gunstocks, the demand apparently has not reached this city up to the present time.

This was indicated Friday by Willard Willis, head of the Willis Lumber Company here, who stated that he has several thousand feet of walnut lumber on hand, but had so far received no orders for walnut for gunstocks.

However should the call come for walnut for gunstocks, a very large supply of timber could be found within 50 miles of Washington C. H., in all directions.

Burdett Green, secretary-manager of the American Walnut Manufacturers Association, said Ohio would play an increasingly important part in the nation's war program because of its walnut trees.

Last year Ohio's yield of 4,990,000 board feet of walnut was third highest in the nation.

Green is touring the state surveying the walnut gunstock supply situation.

Owners of walnut timber, whether in wood lots or scattered farm lands, can help in the war effort by offering the wood to the nearest lumber mill or log buyer, Green said. Walnut logs with a minimum diameter of 12 inches are required. Green explained that a log 13 inches in diameter produced twice as much useable wood as one nine inches thick.

No walnut wood shortage is impending, but Green asked farmers who cut down walnut trees to plant others in their place.

During the first World War the Coffman Stair Company here turned out walnut gunstocks for the government.

AMERICAN DARING NEEDED

It is not necessary to have access to any secret statistics to realize that as of today, and as of any tomorrow soon enough to be significant, the United Nations are losing the battle of the Atlantic. That fact is inescapable in the light of official statements that Axis submarines, mostly German, are sinking our vessels faster than we can replace them.

Considering also the official concessions that we never had enough shipping space for the war job, the only sane conclusion is that a bad situation is steadily becoming worse.

This could mean that we shall lose this war. It may mean just that, unless we show a little of that American imagination and initiative of which we love to boast.

How can we beat the U-boat, solve our shipping headaches, and get to the fighting fronts those supplies which are useless while they lie around factories, warehouses and piers?

Obviously there are three methods, and no more.

The first is to reduce the submarine toll. Thus far every effort in that direction has failed.

The second is to build even more ships even faster than our astoundingly successful current program is doing. And where shall we get the raw materials in time?

The third is to cast tradition to the winds, climb out of the deep rut we are in and beat German initiative with American ingenuity and initiative by carrying our cargoes where the submarines can not see them—much less torpedo them.

That is what proponents of a huge air freight fleet, to supplement and perhaps even replace the water-borne merchant marine, are urging.

Aeronautical science has reached a point where we can build aircraft capable of carrying two of our largest tanks, or 20 of our P-40 fighters, or corresponding quantities of other armament, thousands of miles, non-stop.

They can go to the farthest corners of the war front, leave their cargoes, pick up any return loads, and be back in a week. It takes a ship five months for some of these round trips—provided the ship gets back at all.

Radical? Sure. Daring? Of course. A gamble? Probably.

Isn't this the time for some old fashioned American daring—for a gamble that will improve the odds now against us?

UNAMERICAN AMERICANS

A naive—or possibly sarcastic—writer expressed disbelief the other day that anybody in these times would participate

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

Assertions that we're heading into national bankruptcy are under attack in numerous "letters to the editor" from newspaper readers throughout the country, on the ground that they are deliberately intended by anti-war folk, who write them to undermine our morale.

Whether or not these communications' authors are disloyal, it is not hard to demonstrate that they are inaccurate.

An individual is bankrupt if he owes to other individuals more than he can pay. He can be "flat broke" on his own personal account, but he is not bankrupt unless he has outstanding claims against him in others' hands.

Speaking of us collectively, as Americans, we can spend all we have and find ourselves nationally "strapped," but it won't be bankruptcy.

A nation is just like an individual. If it spends itself down to, and including, its last cent, it is "busted" (it is not actually "in the hole" (a bankrupt country) unless it has borrowed too.

"Ah," wall the pessimists, "but look where we're borrowing now!"

Sure enough, but we are borrowing from ourselves. We are nationally in the position of a guy who borrows his own dough from his right-hand pants pocket to supply his left-hand pocket with cash to spend from that side.

The individual referred to isn't bankrupt on the strength of what he owes to himself, if he hasn't got a lot of creditors hollering for more.

U.S. The Creditor

And Uncle Sam is doing all the lending (lease-lending) this time. That he will ever be able to effect any collections isn't particularly good but I don't imagine he will try very hard. I don't believe it will be at all well worth his while to do so if it isn't seditious to make such a remark in the present emergency. He won't be the bankrupt of the international aggregation anyway.

The chaps who pooh-pooh the idea of a darned unpleasant post-war period seem to me, however, to be overlooking one important consideration.

Let's get back to the individual again.

The duck works like sixty for a term of years, producing and saving up life's necessities and comforts to last him on into his old age. Then he's attacked by some hoodlum who compels him to blow in his entire wad in defense of what's left for himself and his progeny.

Isn't it going to make him ache while he survives—and his descendants, too, for awhile afterward?

He naturally wants to exterminate the hoodlum. There's a certain amount of satisfaction in that. Nevertheless, there's no sense in telling him that he's a sedition monger for recognizing it.

Preventive Measures

This war has been characterized by an unprecedented number of anticipatory measures to cushion the inevitable post-war letdown. How effectively they will do it remains to be seen. They never have been tried before—until after the crash.

It isn't logical, though, to assume that anything can cushion a fall from the moon without an appreciable plunk.

The NRA tried it the last time, but that was a post-mortem outfit.

Leon Henderson is engaged with preventive measures. They haven't had their test, either.

If Leon succeeds in getting away with his stunt, he will be accorded the medal for all history.

It won't be altogether a good thing, at that.

It will imply that countries can fight wars and survive them economically.

Perhaps it would be better to have the wars accepted as all-around suicide.

If Leon proves that they are suicide, maybe that'll be the happiest solution.

The actual fighting isn't so vital. It's what follows.

Nobody knows what Leon will try to demonstrate. He's got a coming opportunity to register on into history.

Is war profitable? Or isn't it?

Flashes of Life

Fuel Problem

WORCESTER, Mass.—A formal application for "one gallon of gasoline each six months" has stumped the local ration board. The applicant is Clark Wesson, 12, who has a thumb-sized gasoline engine for operating a model airplane.

Conceding that the quantity sought wouldn't interfere with the war effort, board chairman Michael J. O'Hara said no machinery existed for authorizing purchases of such small quantities.

He has sent a "what to do" message to Washington.

No Laughing Matter

COLUMBUS, Ga.—Ernest Pershing Rasberry has petitioned the Muscogee superior court to change his surname to "Berry."

His petition said the change was desired because "when petitioner is introduced socially or his name is called in public or in private, he is instantly looked upon in the spirit of puns, jokes, and jests—all to his humiliation and embarrassment and annoyance."

One-Minute Test

1. Is Pike's Peak the tallest mountain in Colorado?
2. Which is said to be the largest navy of the world today?
3. When human eyes are adjusted to the dark, do the pupils expand or contract?

Words of Wisdom

A fool in a high station is like a man on the top of a high mountain—everything appears small to him and he appears small to everybody.

Hints on Etiquette

There is an etiquette of clothes as well as of manners. It is good manners for a man to avoid embarrassing a lady companion by being correctly dressed. When accompanying a lady on the street a man wears a hat, and takes care it is a suitable hat.

Today's Horoscope

You will have some good fortune. Your nature is aggressive, versatile and gifted with executive ability. You should enjoy great success in business. Trust your own judgment always. The child who is born on this date will be somewhat self-centered, dogmatic, and impatient of control. This child should be trained to have more breadth of vision and tolerance. Analytical ability is foreseen.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. No, it is best known, but other mountains surpass it in height. Mount Elbert, 14,431 feet high, is the tallest. Pike's Peak is 14,110.
2. That of the United States.
3. Expand.

in or instigate a slowdown in a war plant.

The fact remains that there are slowdowns daily in such factories, at least some of them inspired by men who think of themselves as loyal Americans. They are shortsighted enough to place certain union methods above the war emergency.

Such, presumably, was the burly employee who tried to force out a too energetic workman in a midwestern plant. That slowdowner was amazed when his victim displayed FBI credentials and handcuffs. We can't have FBI agents in every war factory. It is up to loyal workmen to protect themselves and their country against the slowdowner, whether he is a traitorous fifth columnist or a misguided shop steward.

Symptoms of Undulant Fever in Chronic Form

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"A THOUGHTLESS diagnosis of neurasthenia or nervous prostration is set upon many an unfortunate patient who is in fact suffering from chronic undulant fever."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

fewer infection," says Dr. Walter M. Simpson, Director of the Kettering Institute for Medical Research at Dayton, Ohio.

I referred to the acute form in my article yesterday, pointing out that it came from drinking milk of an infected animal and from handling the flesh of infected animals. This last is an occupational disease and hardly concerns the average citizen. For him the great protection lies in the use of pasteurized or certified milk.

But undulant fever got its name because it is a sluggish, undulating, low fever and anybody anywhere may sometimes get hold of some milk where the pasteurization did not entirely kill off all the germs and a mild form of infection ensues. We said yesterday it was a fever "with nothing to show for it." In other words, no pain to speak of, nothing localizing to draw attention to any part of the body.

Mild Infections

The person with a mild infection may feel seedy for a while—notice no more than loss of pep, poor appetite, constipation, a little nagging headache, or muscular ache, muscular rheumatism or mild joint pains—not enough to take him to a doctor. And then much of this wears off and the chronic stage supervenes, consisting of no more than just a daily feeling of fatigue worse in the afternoon, and a deep-rooted aversion to starting anything new.

There is a sure way of testing to see whether a person has ever had an undulant infection and that is by a skin test. This is performed by injecting a very small amount of vaccine of the dead germs into the skin with a hypodermic. At the end of 24 hours if the person has ever harbored undulant germs, the site of injection in the skin becomes red and stays so until 48 hours after the injection. This is quite a reliable test and allows your doctor to decide whether in a given case the symptoms of prolonged fatigue and listlessness are due to an old chronic undulant infection or not.

Imitates Many Things

A list of the conditions which undulant fever may imitate sounds like the catalogue of diseases on the old patent medicine bottle. It includes influenza, bronchitis, sinus disease, gall-bladder infection, appendicitis, dyspepsia, sciatica, lumbago, neurasthenia, hysteria and five kinds of skin diseases.

Once recognized for its true self, treatment by vaccines made from the organism usually quickly brings about relief. The person with the chronic infection has been fighting a sluggish foe and is able to down it well enough to drag around. But the foe never rouses his fighting forces enough to kill it off. The vaccine is the same foe in a dead or chemical form and may make him feel worse for a while, but that is just because his immunity is rising enough to kill off the enemy completely.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. S.—In a person with an inactive thyroid condition, will the flabby fat disappear when thyroid extract is given, and will a person lose weight, and how long will it take?

Answer: Thyroid extract makes flabby fat disappear and incidentally reduces weight no matter whether the thyroid is normal or not. How long it will take depends upon how much thyroid extract is taken. It is seldom safe to take more than a quarter grain a day.

Claire measured her daughter and said, "I want you to marry a worthwhile person."

SYNOPSIS

BARBARA WISTER, former actress, finds herself a widow at 27, when her husband dies. Her only friend in the small town of South Wintridge, where she lives, is DR. TONY BRADSHAW, a young physician. Owner of the town's only big business is TOM KILCRAN, whose daughter, PAMELA, and wife, CLAIRE, are haughty, cold and selfish.

YESTERDAY: Claire reveals that she has brought her daughter, Pamela, home because of an incipient affair with a "fortune-hunter."

CHAPTER SEVEN

CLAIRE measured her daughter with lip caught beneath her teeth. Then she said pleasantly, "Some day you'll understand, Pam. I want you to marry a worthwhile person. I shall be fair when I talk to Tom and I expect . . . expect . . ."

"That I won't give you away? I won't," she said, going to the door, from where she said over her shoulder, "Will you come down to the library or shall I send him up?"

Claire debated for a moment. "I'll come down in a few minutes. I look a hag."

"You never look a hag in his eyes," Pamela said slowly, importantly.

"I doubt if he really knows what I look like," Claire said, and shrugged her thin shoulders as her daughter went out.

Tom Kilcran got up slowly from back of his massive desk when Pam opened the door to the library and regarded him silently, admiringly. The library with its hunting prints, its big comfortable leather furniture and the smell of burning coals mingling with old leather and tobacco, she was thinking, suited the big, handsome Irishman.

She said, "Tom, it's a handsome devil you are!"

His blue eyes twinkled, but he made his face severe.

"You've no need to give your old father the blarney, miss. Not you! You're in disgrace—or are you?" He couldn't keep the note of anxiety out of his voice.

She didn't answer, but came across the room and rubbed her soft cheek against his ruddy face for a moment. Then she perched on his desk, swinging one leg idly, and shook her head. "No, darling, I'm just being a problem child. Claire'll be down in a minute and I don't want to spoil her show. She's really enjoying this. It has all the elements of the drawing room drama of her youth. I'm the ingenue, languishing with love, and you're to play the irate father."

"Look here, there's an end to my patience, Pam. You've been here since last night and not a word have I heard . . ."

She tapped his cheek and kissed him on the nose. "Don't get your Irish up, Father. Here's Claire about to make her entrance. You don't want to spoil it, do you?"

Claire did make an entrance, dressed in sweeping folds of black velvet, saying, "Cassidy the plumber is waiting to see you, Tom."

Pam said, "Father's about to have apoplexy. Can't we cut the opening lines?"

"I'll come right to the point, Tom. I must say it is all my fault. There's a type of person that one naturally meets in . . . well, where we've been, that one likes but one wouldn't like to have marry one's daughter."

Pamela hid a smile and played with a bronze horse on her father's desk.

"To make a long story short, one of them—he has a perfectly good title but nothing else—wants to marry Pam and she wants to marry him. I knew you wouldn't like it, so I brought Pam home. She didn't want to come, but I thought if you could talk to her, discipline her, perhaps . . . She's only 18."

Pamela had stopped playing with the paperweight. Her waiting eyes were on her father's face. He came to her and tilted up her chin. "What's your side of the story, baby? What's he like?"

She said, "He's Spanish, Father. He's 28. Very smooth, very charming, dances divinely and . . . well, he's different from the other men I've met. He comes from a good family. I understand, and mother knew him quite well before I did."

Tom turned to his wife. "I can't hold it against a man because he's not an American. My own father was an immigrant. Let's have a look at the boy."

"He threat—He may come east in the spring," Pamela said.

"There's something else," Claire said slowly. "He takes money . . . from women."

Tom's glance swung to his daughter. "I don't like the sound of that."

"I suppose a man has to live somehow," Pamela said. "And if women are so foolish as to pay for attention, they sometimes have to pay more than they expected." Her speech ran away from her and she said hastily, "Since Mother would not let me stay in Sante Fe, I suppose we might as well make some plans for staying here. I'd rather stay in South Wintridge than in New York . . . if I can't be where Nicky is." The last sounded very much like an afterthought.

Tom took her hand and stroked it for a minute. "We'll try to give you a good time, lass." He took a handkerchief from his breast pocket and touched it to his forehead. "You girls had me worried. We'll have a nice winter together and see what Time does for us. . . . Guess I'll get down to the office now."

He kissed Pamela and patted her shoulder awkwardly. "Come along, Claire. I want to show you some changes I've planned for the west wing. It's nice having you home again. I was . . ."

Pamela watched them go, sitting on the small of her back, scowling into the burning coals in the grate. She thought of the warm sands of California that she loved, of soft music playing on a terrace and the stars between the tops of cypress trees, of orange groves, of snow-covered slopes and cold air rushing past her warm cheeks. Maybe she could get in some skiing in South Wintridge. There wouldn't be much else to do. Her frown lengthened. She scuffed the toe of her boot savagely against the brass fire rail and chewed angrily on a lock of hair. "Damn!" she said good and loud.

"Beggin' your pardon, miss." Pamela jumped as if she had been shot and turned to the door where a squat figure stood.

"Cassidy! Welcome to Stormwood! Say, you certainly can fix bicycles. I rode that old one of mine you fixed all over the southwest this summer."

Cassidy looked his pleasure at the compliment. "I come to see your father, Miss Pamela," he told her.

"I think he's gone, Cassidy. Anything I can do?"

"It was about the bill for the roof," he told her. "I thought perhaps he'd be helpin' me out. Tomorrow . . ."

"All bills get paid the tenth, unless there's been a change of policy. You'll get it next week." Cassidy's face fell, but it lifted and brightened again when she said, "How's Ellen getting along?"

"It's fine she's doin' now, Ma'am. She's got rid of the crutches and wears a fine pair of braces. You do remember her?"

"Of course I do! She was the only kid in the village who had the nerve to stand up and sock me when I was being more unbearable than ever when we were kids. I was sorry to hear that she . . . she . . ." She didn't want to mention the infantile paralysis that had struck down the other girl. Hastily she said, "I brought her a little present from Mexico. . . . Wait, I'll run up and get it."

She took the stairs two at a time, wondering what she could send the crippled girl from her own things. The tooled leather sewing kit she wouldn't ever have use for? An evening purse? She came down with a soft cashmere sweater, blue as the waters of the Caribbean, wrapped in silver paper.

Cassidy took it from her, unable to mumble more than a thank-you. "The Kilcran Princess" the doting village called her and a little princess she was. But a gift for his Ellen was not what he came for. He had to have a hundred dollars and there was only one other place he could get it.

"The Wisters ain't paid yet, Mike, for last year's furnace. There'll be insurance now and you might get your bit of it," his Kate had told him that morning.

He hated asking a poor widow to pay him, but he squared his shoulders for the task and set his course for the old house on Maple street.

Nebraska Fools Japs - Tapioca Discovered

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

(Wide World News Service)

LINCOLN, Neb.—The Japanese got America's tapioca source, too, when they grabbed Java and the rubber, but Nebraska has fooled them.

A tapioca starch equal to or better than that which came from Java has been discovered in a sorghum which grows so profusely in Nebraska that the corn-huskers soon may be calling themselves the state where the tall tapioca grows.

Tapioca is made from the starch of the cassava root. Like rubber, cassava originated in Brazil and was imported to the East Indies. Manioc is the Brazilian name.

Everyone knows tapioca for puddings, jellies and soup. More important are its commercial uses. These include adhesives for various uses and sizing for paper and for textiles. Cassava starch gives fine thread the smoothness which saves it from fraying against other fibers. It gives adhesives which stick instantaneously and tenaciously.

Corn and potato starch have been tried as substitutes, but neither has equaled tapioca for its special uses. The peculiar properties of Cassava starch have been discovered in leoti sorghum starch, at the University of Nebraska. The research is in charge of R. M. Sandstedt, of the agricultural experiment station.

Compared with leoti and cassava, Sandstedt says potato starch is tough and has a bitter flavor. Cornstarch retains a slight flavor. Leoti, like cassava, is entirely flavorless, gives a clear tender gel which does not retrograde and gelatinizes at a low temperature.

Leoti came originally from China. It was imported first to Indiana years ago for use in making syrup. Later it was planted in Kansas for forage and from there it went to Nebraska where it became popular. Leoti did wonderfully during the dust bowl years. Its acreage actually increased, due to drought-resistant qualities.

At the same time it mixed with other sorghums, so that of Nebraska's present 200,000 acres of leoti only about one-tenth is pure enough to make tapioca. But Sandstedt says there is enough seed of the pure variety to supply the nation's probable needs.

The grains of leoti are red and tan, about the size and shape of popcorn. The yield in Nebraska is good, with promise of farm profits.

Leoti starch makes a tapioca more uniform than the cassava root.

CHECK IS MADE ON REST HOMES BY INSPECTOR

Some of Them Reported Not Being Kept Up to State Requirements

A state inspector of rest homes has been making the rounds of rest homes in Washington C. H. and Fayette County this week, and reported he found a few of the many that are not complying with the stringent regulations laid down by the state.

Last year the legislature enacted a law requiring that all rest homes be licensed, but it seems that for some reason or other this provision has not been enforced and reports indicate that such licenses have not been issued in this community.

Most of the rest homes, it is understood, have passed inspection and could be licensed, it is indicated, but the inspector found others where no apparent attempt had been made to improve conditions, he stated.

Sure, it makes you mad!

DO YOU REALIZE that thousands of our good American soldiers are behind barbed wire—with Jap sentries marching up and down outside?

Do you know that American women and children, too, are in Jap concentration camps?

How long do you want them there—and what are you willing to do to get them out?

You can't do it by flag-waving, by slogans, and by cheers.

It takes planes—tanks—guns—bombs—shells—ships. And these don't grow on trees.

You—and you—and you—must buy these things. Not the Jap way, nor the Nazi way, nor the Fascist way. The American way—gladly. In War Bonds.

The easy way—just by saving a dime from every dollar every payday. TEN PERCENT of your pay. The management of your company will save it for you, and every time it adds up to $18.75, they'll buy a WAR BOND for you.

You'll get interest on that money. It will increase every year, until for every $18.75 you invest, you'll get $25 in ten years.

And your money will buy the stuff to beat the Japs—to attack them—to bomb them, to make them wish to their heathen idols they'd never picked a scrap with Uncle Sam!

And the sooner you do your part, by backing up our boys, the sooner they will blast the Japs right out of their sandals.

Down will come that barbed wire, and out will come your fellow Americans. Home again—to a free, decent, clean country—the country we all love.

And you'll be sitting pretty, too. You'll have the clear conscience of having done your part, and you'll have built up financial protection for you and your family.

So let's get going. Do your part. Ten percent—a dime from every dollar every payday.

Invest your share in VICTORY!

5 Reasons Why

1. By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
2. You prove that you are a patriotic American.
3. You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
4. You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
5. You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

Mrs. Ormond Dewey, who is always a perfect hostess, added a pretty and most enjoyable affair to her quota of entertaining, Thursday evening, when she entertained with a supper-bridge party.

The large yard at the back of the hostess' lovely home, was a perfect setting for the outdoor meal, cooked on the oven.

One long table seated the guests for the delicious menu and was centered with a brilliant colored wooden tray, piled high with bright and vari-colored fruits. A complete service of Fiesta ware was added to the table decorations, which were greatly admired. Contract bridge was played in the large living room of the attractive home where masses of gorgeous flowers were arranged most artistically at every vantage point.

The Hook cottage on Paint Creek was an ideal setting for the group of young people, and the delightful plans made by the pretty hostess, gaily enjoyed.

A wiener roast was held along the banks of the creek, with the cooking meats whetting the appetites of the guests. All sorts of good dishes that go with such a menu, were particularly delicious, on the cool summer evening.

All-Day Parish Meeting Held by Staunton Woman's Society of Christian Service

One hundred and twenty-seven members and guests gathered at the Staunton School House, where a most delightful meeting of the Staunton Women's Society of Christian Service was held.

Unusual and most delightful, the affair was an 'All-Day Parish' meeting, so different from the usual routine of the society's meeting, and for which most pleasurable plans had been made.

The luncheon launched the day's program, with the dining room a bower of midsummer bloom in its gorgeous array of flowers. American Flags were pretty in their standards, at points of true vantage. Red, white and blue decorations were used for the table decorations, which were pictures of pure beauty, with their showy white cloths and the tri-colored scheme. One table seated the president and past presidents of the society, with each place marked by small nosegays.

Served from one table, cafeteria style, the luncheon was exceptionally delicious with all sorts of seasonal viands provided. The luncheon hour was a gay and enjoyable one, with friends making and renewing acquaintances.

Immediately following the luncheon, the guests gathered in the auditorium of the school, which was also beautifully decorated in the same patriotic colors and flowers.

Pretty little fans, favors of the day, were presented to each, with a large array of colors representing each church.

The program opened with the singing of "America", sung by the entire group. Each society contributed several numbers to make the day enjoyable.

Guests were present from Bloomingburg, Good Hope, Buena Vista, New Martinsburg, Maple Grove, Sugar Grove and Washington C. H.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert S. Meyers, a former pastor and wife, of Williamsport, were welcomed back into the circle.

CHALDEAN TO SPEAK AT BIBLE SCHOOL

Holy Land To Be Described At Church of Christ

The Bible School of the Church of Christ, North and Temple streets, is to have a very unusual session Sunday, when the lesson will be taught by Sheikh Raphael Emmanuel, who comes from the land of Chaldea, the land of Abraham and Job. He will describe Bible Lands of yesterday and today, his message to be presented in original garb. Since the present lessons in the international series have this land as their background, it is especially appropriate to have the special address.

Among other parts of his address, Sheikh Raphael Emmanuel intends to give the twenty-third Psalm, "just as David would explain it to you, if he came here and learned your language and then told it to you." He also intends to give the background for some of the parables so that they will be more clearly understood.

Emmanuel spoke in the local high school three years ago.

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Aug. 14—According to Ned Irish, colleges aren't worrying much about transportation for their basketball teams this winter although a lot of athletic directors are keeping their fingers crossed about moving big football squads around the country. . . Ned's winter court program at Madison Square Garden and waypoints is all set and so far no team has tried to back out of a scheduled date. . . Clark Shaughnessy, as usual, is visiting the Chicago Bears' training camp and spending a lot of time conferring with George Halas. . . Sounds like bad news for Maryland's and the Bears' opponents this fall.

Replying to a football questionnaire which asked if coaches expected a drop in caliber or play because of war conditions, spokesman for Blue Ridge College of New Windsor, Md. wrote: "If we were to have a team this coming year, which we shall not, it would be practically recruited from scratch, and, of course, could not be expected to play normal football." . . . DODGER - BRAVE FEUD MAY FLARE IN DOUBLE BILL

Batters on Both Teams Were Ducking Dusters Last
Time They Met

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

(By the Associated Press)

The National League's new rule making managers subject to an automatic fine of $200 for permitting their pitchers to blaze away at a rival's noggin is due for the acid test today when the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves collide in a doubleheader opening a five-game series.

It will be their first meeting since they spent last Saturday afternoon duking each other's high inside pitches—an exercise that is good for the legs if executed with speed but bad for the head if it isn't.

League President Ford Frick fined Manuel Salvo of the Braves $50 and Brooklyn's Whitlow Wyatt $75 for participating in the "duster" duel and warned pitchers that they also would be fined in the future along with the managers. It cost Wyatt an extra $25 to throw his bat at Salvo.

"If other pitchers throw at our players," said Brooklyn President Larry MacPhail in discussing the new league rule, "we'll give them two for one, and I don't care whether it costs $20 or $400."

So, with Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers backed by MacPhail's bankroll, it is to be assumed that Professor Casey Stengel of the Braves will have his checkbook handy today in case a few well chosen pitches stray too near the region reserved for a batter's cranium.

Postponement of yesterday's bill at Ebbets Field was one of four which left the major league card with only three completed contests.

In the only one in the National League, the Chicago Cubs walloped the St. Louis Cardinals, 13-5, to drop the second-place Red Birds eight and a half games behind the Dodgers.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians came from behind in the ninth inning to edge out the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, and the St. Louis Browns crushed the Chicago White Sox, 8-3.

American League games between Boston and New York and Washington and Philadelphia, and a National League affair between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh all were postponed.

The 19th Hole Country Club Golf Gossip

Ed Hunt coasted through the preliminaries of the Country Club's handicap golf tourney to the finals on five defaults and one victory but now he will have to play either Ronnie Cornwell, conceded to be the toughest golfer in the club by a slight edge, or Glenn Woodmansee—and maybe both, depending on whether his luck holds out and his skill.

The only match he had to play coming up through the ranks was against Ray Brandenburg. He won it but he confessed privately that neither he nor his heavyweight opponent played any golf to brag about. They played one nine-hole round one day and the other the following day. Hunt whispered that he shot a 53 the first day and Brandenburg had a 57. He wouldn't discuss scores on the second round.

Hunt, Woodmansee and Cornwell are all in the same boat as far as the handicap tourney is concerned. Luck will give one of the three the "bye" to sit on the verandah while the other two battle it out. The winner of that match and the man with the "bye" must then match swats for the crown.

The Pro's Notebook

The scribbles in the notebook of the club pro, Tony Capuano, are that:

Norman McLean uses more wood clubs than any other golfer on the course. There are five in his bag.

Mrs. Kirm Gibson is taking golf lessons.

Wert Shoop, one of the regulars on the golf course and a mainstay of the Country Club here, is on the board of governors of the Ohio Golf Association.

A regular threesome of feminine golfers is made up of Miss Linda Paxson, Mrs. Robert Hook and Miss Betty Fedigan.

O. D. Farquhar has been among the missing on the course. He came out on the wrong end of a meeting with some poison ivy.

Walter Jones turned in a card with three fours and six fives on it.

The fair golfers are going in for the new jockey caps as part of their golfing attire. Mrs. Ted Preston has a red one and Miss Edith Davids has a blue one.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parrett mashed a bit of turf on the Mansfield golf course last week.

The most regular Wednesday golfers are: Dr. I. L. Pumphrey, Dr. Fred D. Woodard, R. W. Cline, Dr. W. H. Limes, Dr. C. G. Hayes and Sam Parrett.

Miss Edith Davids had her best round of the year when she turned in a card of 58, including 15 putts.

Mrs. Marvin Thornburg and Mrs. Frank Boso took the honors on the golf course on Ladies' Day at the Country Club.

The match-hole tourney, played over the nine-hole route, ended in a tie between Miss Edith Davids and Mrs. Boso, each of whom matched four holes with the card fixed by the club pro.

Mrs. Thornburg took the fewest number of putts with 17 for the nine holes.

Mrs. Boso, with a card of 65, had the low score of the day. She has been playing golf only two months.

Here is a tabulation of the tourney:

Walker's Bat Bright Spot In Red Record

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14—(P)—The Cincinnati Reds' record for the last month is nothing to write home about, but veteran outfielder Gerald Walker's work with the bat rates special mention.

Gee boosted his mark from .170 to .237 in the last five weeks. No other Redleg has shown even a sixth of that improvement.

Sentimental Side

There's an explanation of it for the sentimental—it's noted that Gee started blasting the ball just about the time he became papa of a seven-pound daughter. In fact, after he received the telegram from Orlando, Fla., he slugged out eight straight hits.

For others, it may be recalled that the Cleveland Indians not so long ago publicly congratulated themselves for dealing their 33-year-old holdout to the Reds last March.

Since July 11, Walker has made 42 hits, including two triples and 17 doubles, knocked in 16 runs, and scored a dozen. In three months of the season prior to that he had 39 hits.

Cardinal Series

The Redlegs open a four-game series tonight with St. Louis. Eight and one-half games behind the Cards, the Reds lead the fourth-place New York Giants by only a half game. Ray Starr or Paul Derringer was scheduled to hurl against Morton Cooper, the Redbirds' ace right-hander.

Weather knocked out the third and rubber game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh yesterday. The contest was rescheduled for Sept. 19.

Ernie Smith In Spill—Not Badly Injured

Ernie Smith, Washington C. H. reinsman, today was nursing scratches and bruises he received in a spill in the first heat of the three-year-old pacing stake of the Fair races at Wilmington Thursday when Clayton Cox's bike locked wheels with his at the head of the stretch.

Smith was driving Hustler and Cox was driving Silver X, which came back to pace the fastest mile of the day in winning the second heat in 2:06½. Hustler finished second in the last heat after having jumped off his chances from the sizzling pace he set in the first two. Joe C. Abbe, Clinton Lighthill's gelding, won the stake event finishing first, second and first.

Smith said Friday, as he was getting ready to go back to Wilmington to drive the Walnut Abbe in the Ohio Pacing Derby in the afternoon, that he had had more bike wheels broken under him this season than in all of his 18 years of driving. Thursday's accident broke the fourth of the year, he said.

DAIRMEN LOSE TO LEGION TEAM BY 8-4 SCORE

Home Run by Shadley Gives Light's Crew Three of Its Four Tallies

The American Legion softball boys, in their second game of the week, took a victory over Light's Dairy Thursday night by a score of 8 to 4. In the first inning the Legion scored two runs and in the third they went on a spree that added five more. In the fifth inning the Dairymen scored their first run, having got only two hits during the game to that point.

In the seventh inning for the Dairymen after two men had got on base, one by a walk and the other with a hit, Shadley, of Sabina, hit a home run sending three runs in and to make the total 4.

The high hitters of the game were all Legionnaires. Reno and Spetnagel had two for two while McCoy had one for one.

The Legion will play two games Friday night, the first game at 7:30 P. M. with the Selden Grange, and the second game at 8:45 P. M. with Ferguson's State Auditors of Columbus.

HONEY CROP SHORT AND BEES IN DANGER

Expert Says Sugar Needed To Prevent Starvation
COLUMBUS, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ohio's bees not only have cut production 25 percent, but face starvation in a few areas unless they are fed rationed sugar next winter, an apary expert reported today.
C. A. Reese of the Ohio Department of Agriculture said a survey showed heavy spring rains and cold weather had destroyed nectar producing qualities of many plants except in a few areas and that some beekeepers were feeding sugar to "save bees in the hope of securing a fall honey crop."
Production ranges from no honey in some localities to 75 pounds per colony in other, he asserted.
Reports are optimistic, however, regarding the possibilities of the fall flow of nectar which beekeepers in most sections believe should be sufficient to winter their bees, he added.

City's Tax Rate Should Be .80 Mill Less in 1943

BUDGET CALLS FOR $59,215 FOR YEAR TO COME

City's Finances Are in Good Shape Due to 'Pay As We Go'

As reflected in the city's budget for 1943, the tax rate in Washington C. H. should be .80 of a mill less during the coming year than it was this year, inasmuch as the amount levied for indebtedness during the coming year is 1.20 mills instead of two mills as it was this year.

Total budgetary requests are $59,215, or just $17 more than the amount actually expended during the past year, it is stated by City Manager Edwin Ducey in discussing the budget and its many phases.

As reflected by the budget and other figures, the city's financial condition is good, and barring extraordinary demands, should continue in good condition if present policies of "pay as we go," adopted when the city changed from the old council form of government to City Manager form, was adopted, and which has been adhered to during the several years it has been in force.

While there are increased demands for operating expenses during the coming year, the bonded indebtedness and interest to be paid are considerably less, and income from some sources shows a tendency to increase.

It is pointed out that the city's tax duplicate is now $8,696,951 and that this year the tax rate for the city is $16.40 and next year should be $15.60. Of the amount levied for this year $8.40 goes to the city schools.

This year total bonded indebtedness paid off will reach $9,500, together with $2,573.06 interest or $12,073.06 and next year the amount will be $7,000 with $2,074 interest, a total of $9,074.

In 1944, $8,000 in general obligation bonds will be paid, and the following year it will drop to $4,000 with a similar amount in 1946, and $3,000 for each of the next two years.

The bonded indebtedness of the city on January 1, 1943, will be $39,000.

PUTTING OUT PAPER IS FAMILY AFFAIR

GRANITE FALLS, Wash.—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Nyda Scofield runs the linotype in her father's weekly newspaper office here, thereby making publication of the Snohomish County Forum (circulation 800) a family affair.

The father, Ralph Scofield, runs the print shop, and Mrs. Scofield solicits the advertising and gathers the news.

Nyda works about 12 or 18 hours a week on the linotype, and can set a galley of eight-point type on a 10-point slug in an hour.

'Gabby, Scrappy Brat'

That's How Former Classmates Describe Propagandist—Born and Educated in America but Citizenship Renounced

By LYLE NELSON
(By Central Press Association)
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 14—Charles Hisao Yoshii is the local boy who made bad.

American-born and a "by-product" of American education, he is the newest addition to Axis propaganda disseminators whose voice is heard daily on Tokyo short wave broadcasts to this country.

Yoshii, who has renounced his American citizenship and dropped the English "Charles" from his name, is chief of the English-speaking announcers spreading Japanese rumors and fairy tales around the world. As senior announcer for the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan, he is blaspheming against the nation of his birth and is earning the title of Lord Haw Haw of Japan, or as people of Oregon prefer to call him, "The Yokel of Yokohama."

Japan's vocal automaton was born near Banks, Ore., and was educated at Glencoe grade school and Franklin high school in the city of Portland. Later he attended the University of Oregon, where he made himself generally unpopular by "always wanting to talk."

"Scrappy Little Brat"

Teachers and students remember him in grade school as a "scrappy little brat with an incessantly runny nose, porcupine hair and truculent disposition." He went around with a chip on his shoulder and usually was at the center of most of the school fights. He improved only slightly in high school, where it took him nine terms to get through Franklin's curriculum.

While at the University of Oregon, he lived at the International club, which had a policy of world representation. This should have given him a world outlook to oppose Japanese nationalism, but apparently it did not, for he made few friends and was not particularly well known. His activities were limited to the Reserve Officer Training Corps, the rifle team and debate.

Never a good student, the courses he most consistently flunked, perhaps significantly enough, were psychology and German. Sometime during his college career, however, he developed the one gift in which he was better than average—the gift of gab. He was a good debater and could "talk a leg off you," his classmates recall.

Soon after graduation, while working as a radio announcer in Los Angeles, Yoshii got his first "unlucky" break in the person of Yosuke Matsuoka, already high up in Japanese diplomatic circles and later to become premier of Japan. Matsuoka must have seen in young Yoshii the qualities of a good propagandist because he encouraged the Oregon-born Japanese to cut his ties with America and sail for Nippon.

Once in Japan, Yoshii enrolled in the Tokyo Imperial University as a graduate student, and after months of diligent study—something he could never claim for his years in American schools—he was sufficiently steeped in Japanese nationalism and folklore to be declared a "success" by the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi.

"Fine Work"

Shortly thereafter, he was assigned to a position in the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan's foreign division. Apparently he followed orders well, for early in 1938 the government controlled Nichi Nichi wrote an extensive article praising his "fine work" for which it attached to him the name "Japan's Radio Spokesman."

"It is imperative that a man speaking for the Japanese nation have the perfect understanding and command of the English language and country of which Mr. Yoshii so possesses," the newspaper wrote.

Japan changed young Yoshii in many ways. Instead of the unruly, vociferous boy of school days, he became suave, fastidious and exceedingly polite, according to reports from Tokyo reaching his former classmates. His speech has lost some of its pure American accent, but the greatest change has been in his thinking and view of life. Listeners to Tokyo broadcasts report that

C. J. WADDELL IS INJURED IN TRAFFIC CRASH

Two Passengers in Car Are Hurt Also in Accident in Michigan

Relatives here have received word of the serious injury of C. J. Waddell, who was in a traffic accident Tuesday, near St. Johns, Michigan, according to the report, and is in a hospital at St. Johns.

Waddell was enroute home from St. Ignace, Michigan, the reports state, when the accident took place.

Waddell sustained serious chest and head injuries and severe injury to one leg, as well as cuts and bruises.

With him at the time, were Mrs. Clyde Arnold and Mrs. Stewart Gower, the latter of Greenfield, and both were injured severely.

The auto was badly wrecked.

Charles either has developed an excellent sense of humor—something he did not possess in America—or that he has lost his American habit of straight thinking and talking. The latter, of course, is probably the case.

The American government is little worried about the antics of the newest Axis propaganda mouthpiece, knowing that he will talk himself out. He, like the German Haw Haw, probably soon will find himself so involved in his own lies that he will lose his appeal.

Britain helped dispose of the German traitor by laughing at him and by composing such popular fun-making songs as "Haw Haw the Humbug of Hamburg." Already a Portland song writer has composed a dirge for "Yoshii the Yokel of Yokohama."
